COAL HEAD HOLDS OUT ON STRIKE

(By Associated Press)
INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 4.—Breaking silence for the first time since he was served Friday with the restraining order, John Lewis, acting head of the United Mine Workers, said: "Machinery of the joint system of bargaining in the mining industry is intact. It would be a simple matter for the government and coal operators again to set it in motion to negotiate a wage agreement."

HAYS IS COMING TO SEE NEVADA

Outstanding developments at the conference held here Saturday between Raymond Benjamin, representing the republican national committee, and prominent republicans were that Will H. Hays, national chairman, will address a gathering of republicans from all over the state in Reno early in January, and that a conference of members of the state central committee, chairman of county central committees and other prominent republicans will be held in Reno on November 15.

Hays and some other republicans of national renown will speak in the Radio theatre at a conference which was agreed upon at Saturday's meeting. Republicans from all over the state are expected to be here on the date which will be fixed for the national chairman's visit.

The hope was expressed at Saturday's meeting that republicans generally will attend the conference which will be held here on November 15. At that time organization plans will be taken up in detail and a program agreed upon. At Saturday's meeting Benjamin impressed on his listeners the necessity of forming a state-wide organization that is concrete and thorough and that will work in harmony with all members of the party. He said it is the desire of the national committee that an organization that will extend even to the most remote precincts of the state be formed in all the western states.

He is regional director and personal representative of the national committee in eight western states.

At Saturday's meeting he spoke briefly on conditions that prevail in the Pacific coast states and expressed confidence that the republican would sweep the west in next year's campaign. "Organization" was the keynote of his remarks and he said the national committee is anxious to have Nevada thoroughly organized for next year's campaign.

Tonopah is hooked up with New York and San Francisco by long distance telephones operating over the circuit of the Nevada Bell Telephone company through the agency of the Nevada Telephone and Telegraph company at all stations in southern Nevada. The line has been finished for several days but experts have been engaged testing out and tuning up the connections and the delicate instruments which are employed to keep vocal sounds rolling on to destination. The service is still in its initial stages but the test this morning was phenomenally clear, the dulcet notes of the long distance operator coming through in a low even tone that did not show the slightest shock on being informed that the conversation was from the heart of the wild and woolly desert country and a desire was expressed for reaching the ear of Melville Stone, general manager of the Associated Press. Now York was a pretty busy burg this morning on account of the election, but Mr. Stone kindly consented to tear himself away for a few minutes to be repaid with a voice from the sagebrush sending the following greeting from W. W. Booth, manager of The Daily Bonanza:

"On the opening of the long distance Bell telephone line from Tonopah to New York, three thousand miles away, Tonopah the gem of the desert, sends greetings. The greatest silver-gold camp on earth extends a hearty welcome to the bankers of your great city to extend their investments in adding to the store of precious metals. Out here they say New York looks like a permanent camp."

Mr. Stone expressed himself as being highly pleased with hearing (Continued on Page Four)

The affair is an old boyfriend-love-match which was revived when the gallant swain returned from France, where he had served with the welfare activities of the Knights of Columbus. The couple are spending their honeymoon in San Francisco.

CONSOLIDATION OF MINA MINES

Another big deal in Simon district properties has just been completed. In consolidation of the Simon Fagan Mines company and the Norman Silver Mining company, under the title of the Fagan Consolidated Silver Mines company with a combined capital stock of 3,000,000 shares.

The officers of the new company are: President, P. A. Simon; vice president, E. S. Chafey; secretary and treasurer, S. W. Zachau; board of directors, P. A. Simon, E. S. Chafey, R. W. Zachau, E. S. Mulford and Frank M. Manson.

These two properties are located in the Simon district a short distance southeast of the Simon Silver Lead mine, and consist of approximately six claims each, having a common endline, making the long axis of the combined properties a little over a mile long in a nearly north and south direction. Extensive development work has been done on both the Fagan and the Norman properties during the past season, and with the combined resources of the two companies, it is confidently predicted that a great mine will be developed here.

J. O. Greenan, who has been associated with both companies, as well as with the Simon Silver Lead company, has been placed in charge of the Fagan Consolidated as superintendent, and is preparing an aggressive campaign of development.

In this connection, a new strike of very high grade ore is reported in the west drift on the Fagan workings, samples of which are freely spotted with native silver.

SHORTS CAUGHT ON THE BEN HUR

With a record of 595,000 shares sold in San Francisco, the day was an exciting one for a civic holiday, showing that the investing public has its eyes on Divide stocks. The favorites were Ben Hur with sales of 94,500 shares, Charlot with sales of 119,000 shares and Ben Hur Extension, which rose into the running. The latter stock has been listed for some months but the trading was so light that the quotations were not carried by the Western Union. Ben Hur Extension is on the direct strike of the Ben Hur ledge which has been established beyond peradventure of a doubt to be one of the largest orebodies seen in the district. Ben Hur sold up to 7, Charlot went from 5 to 9 and the Ben Hur Extension was quoted strong at 6 cents.

Ben Hur received a strong boost in the trading from the fact that the stock is said to be largely oversold through a short interest represented by one house which shorted the security to the extent of 130,000 shares on the report that the strike was not sustained. The Ben Hur management has extended an invitation to representative engineers and newspaper men to visit the property tomorrow to see for themselves what the company owns and inspect the assay sheets. Zeb Kendall, president of the Charlot Divide, has been keeping the wires busy from San Francisco inquiring as to the strike holding out and it is the impression that work will be resumed on that property. Ben Luce, manager of the Ben Hur Extension, is gathering a force to prosecute immediate development with the object of picking up the new ledge. The Extension group comprises Ben Hur Extension claims No. 1, 2 and 3, Kelly Fraction, Ben Kelly No. 1 and the Marion and Vedor fractions.
